Re: Sole Source for ASPAN: Mosby's Orientation to PeriAnesthesia Nursing

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter confirms that Elsevier Inc. (Elsevier) and the American Society of PeriAnesthesia Nurses (ASPAN) collaborated to co-develop an exclusive online course titled ASPAN: Mosby's Orientation to PeriAnesthesia Nursing. Co-branded by Elsevier and ASPAN, at this time, this course is ONLY available from, and sold by, Elsevier. There are no other distributors or agents authorized to sell this product.

ASPAN empowers nurses to make better decisions and reduce care variability by providing clinical and professional practice evidence-based content in an interactive, trackable, and standardized format that is easily delivered to all perianesthesia nurses. Through a strategic partnership with the ASPAN, this course offers unrivaled authoritative content. The course includes 35 lessons that teach nurses of all experience levels how to minimize complications and maximize outcomes while addressing patients' physical, cultural, and emotional needs. Six of these lessons focus specifically on the care of pediatric perianesthesia patients.

The course is designed to complement a perianesthesia clinical orientation or for continuing education or to stand on its own. This course may help with the following organizational objectives:

- Reduce nurse attrition:
 - The lessons are aligned with ASPAN competency-based orientation and standards, building nurse confidence in their practice while reducing stress on the job; and
 - Lessons promote clinical practice and professional growth to support certification.
- Improve patient experience:
 - Teaches nurses of all experience levels how to minimize complications and maximize outcomes while addressing patients' physical, cultural, and emotional needs; and
 - Promotes increased sensitivity to diverse populations.
- Close the experience to complexity gap:
 - Empowers nurses to make better decisions and reduce care variability by providing clinical and professional practice evidence-based content in an interactive, trackable, and standardized format that is easily delivered to all perianesthesia nurses.
- Provide future leadership growth:
 - The course, based on ASPAN competency-based orientation and standards, helps prepare nurses for certification.
